

If banking/lending institutions are allowed to violate the no-call privacy act, my husband and I will withdraw our monies from those who do so, and will encourage friends and family to do the same. The mail received by the above is more than enough to inform the public of services offered.